Litigator Mark Remus Speaks on Litigation Defense Strategies at Third Annual IP Strategy Summit

May 03, 2017

CHICAGO—Mark H. Remus, a shareholder and patent litigator at intellectual property law firm Brinks Gilson & Lione, will be a panelist for “Defensive Strategy 2.0: Facing a Better-Prepared Plaintiff” at CenterForce’s third annual IP Strategy Summit on May 3, 2017, at the Fairmont Olympic Hotel in Seattle.

Remus and two in-house attorneys will discuss proactive defense strategies for a litigation environment with leaner and better-prepared plaintiffs, including maximizing resources, determining the endgame, anticipating enforcement strategies and formulating a response, and effectively partnering with outside counsel.

Remus is a seasoned trial lawyer who has served as lead counsel on numerous patent infringement litigation matters. He represents clients in jury trials, bench trials, and appeals to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and the U.S. Supreme Court. Remus has extensive experience with pharmaceutical litigation under the Hatch-Waxman Act, as well as experience protecting and defending other technologies. He is a frequent speaker and author on current topics in patent law.

Brinks Gilson & Lione is a sponsor of the third annual IP Strategy Summit: Seattle. The conference will explore effective strategies for an IP environment that is rapidly evolving in terms of patentable subject-matter, fee-shifting standards, and post-issuance proceedings.
